SYNOPSISOF OPINIONS OF THE NEW YORK PRESS.

PRESS.

[From the New York Times, May 4.]

The First King.—A few invited guests were treated to a novel spectacle yesterday afternoon at Jones's Wood Signor Uristoforo Buono Core was kind enough to roast himself for their private gratification. A next little bo er was constructed of chip and brushwood, and a gentleman, probably a young sale mander, and still in the blue state, set fire to it. The wind was high and there was soon a good blaze, hot enough to force the curious back from their positions, and to cause the young salamander to look red in the face. The old salamander began to make himself at home. He stapped into the rearing mass, waiked leisurely among the flames, made his appearance at the four entrances of the etructure, and remained fizzing and cooking until the light material was all consumed. Wher or til the light material was all consumed. Wherever the flames were fiercest he plroed himself, and although his heimet cracked and hugh blisters of a saline character bulged out on it, he himself was safe and sound; neither spent in wind nor flushed in factorials. in face. Such a contrivance certainly merits at-tention in a humanitarian point of view. The fire department, in particular, should look into the matter.

THE ITALIAN SALAMANDER.

[From the New York Daily News, May 29.]

The most remarkable exhibition which we have had the good fortune to witness for a long time, took place, at Jones's Wood on Wednesday afternoon Cristo'oro Buono Core, who has created great excitement not only among the masses of the peope of London, but also upon its savants, appeared at Jones's Wood at the time named to give an exhibition to a select number of gentlemen of the wonderful merits of a dress which he has invented, and which, he claims, is not only impervious to fire, but, when worn, will preserve the body from injury, though the dress be in actual contact with flame. This he puts on, of course, before going into the fire, which is prepared as follows; Two iron cages are formed to intersect each other, about fifteen feet long by seven feet high, but only three feet wide, with four openings or doorways. These he completely surrounds and covers with light brushwood, which is fired, and when the whole becomes, as it were, one body of flame, he enters, traverses the several narrow burning avenues. flame, he enters, traverses the several narrow burning avenues, passing in and out at each opening with apparent case and perfectly un-

Soon after the wood had been fired the heat was so great that the spectator could not stand nearer to it than eight or ten yards, and at that distance only with great discomfort. All who saw the experiment were perfectly satisfied that he could do all he promised. In fact, he appeared to be the only dissatisfied person on the ground, for the reason that the fire was not hot enough for him. The exhibition will be repeated on Wednesday next, and the proprietor of the grounds has made liberal preparations for the enjoy ment of visitors.

A FIRE KING.

[From the New York Sun, May 19.]

Yesterday a number of newspaper reporters and other persons visited Jones's Wood to see an Icalian. Signor Buono Core, walk unscathed through a hot fire. About 4 o'clock the gentleman made his appearance clothed in a suit of canvas, painted red. Around an iron arbor, with four entrances, lay a large pile of light brushwood. This was ignited. The Italian then unconcernedly walked through the burning mass, remaining amid the flames until the wood had been consumed. The exhibition completely demonstrated the practicalistic of persons walking through fire unberged. bility of persons walking through fire unharmed, when clothed in fire-proof garments. On uncovering, Signor Core was discovered in a state of profuse perspiration and in no wise injured by the

THE FIRE KING-REMARKABLE EXHIBITION.

[From the Brooklyn Union, May 19.]

A private exhibition of a very novel character was given yesterday in Jones's Wood by an Italian gentleman who styled himself Christoforo Sucono Core, or the Fire King, who stood in the midst of a fierce fire for nearly half an hour, thoroughly establishing his claim to the title he has assumed. The entertainment was quite curious, but the Sig-The entertainment was quite curious, but the Signor has higher claims for his invention than a mere show. It was accorded by all present yesterday that the Signor made good his claims, and his invention merits the attention of those interested—and who is not?—in the saving of human life.

A SALAMANDER.

[From the Brook yn Daily Eagle, May 19.]

There are a great many wonderful things being done in and around New York just now by the spirits and magicians, but these manifestations are of no practical utility, except to the exhibitors, who are reaping a rich harvest from the credulous. Something that is at once curious and useful has, however, been brought to public notice. A Signor Buono Core has invented a firetice. A Signor Buono Core has invented a fire-proof suit, in which he can walk into a burning building with flames playing around him and feel no inconvenience. This discovery may be of great service. It is not expected that every one will at once order a salamander outfit, and keep it in the house in case of fire, but it will be a good thing for each fire company to be provided with a suit. which will enable the wearer to enter burning buildings, save property, and assist materially in extinguishing fires.

[From the Evening Express, May 2).] Have we a salamander among us? If by a sala mander is meant a living being which can waik unharmed, like the three young men in the Scripture story, through a flery furnace, and come out unscathed, we think Signor Buono Core is fairly entitled to the specilation, albeit the common notion that the little reptile from which he desired it can do the like with impurity in a few tion that the little reptile from which he derives it can do the like with impunity is a fabutious idea. A few days age the Signor invited a party to go up to Jones's Wood and witness a demonstration of his right to be considered a modern Abednego. He entered an iron cage around, ever, and upen which an intensely hot fire was burning all the while, and made himself quite at home therein, for some space. Nor did he seem to care more for the exposure than if he were walking like Adam in Eden, in a garden in the cool of the evening. He will give his first public exhibition at Jones's Wood next Wednesday afternoon. It certainly is a very curious feat. ternoon. It certainly is a very curious feat.

[From the Saturday Courier, May 21.] Signor Buono Core on Wednesday last gave : private exhibition to the members of the press at Jones's Wood. His arrangement consists of a light iron frame work, standing about ten feet light iron frame work, standing about ten feet high, with exits and entrances at each end and sixe, which is pientifully covered with brushwood, saplings and shavings, and a dress somewhat resembling that of the submarine diver.

A young gentleman, evidently disposed to make light of the affair, distributed lucifer matches among those present, with a request to assist in firing the pile, which was speedily accomplished, and as the heat drove the crowd backward, Buonc Core, accoutered in his novel dress, with a "martial stalk," entered the flames, which, judging by a remark he made as he did so, were scarcely intense enough to satisfy his inordinate desire to be

THE NORTHWESTERN CONFEDERA.

CY PROJECT . 1.1 17 .C. More Particulars of the Conspiracy-The Names of some of the Parties Implicated.

St. Louis, July 28.—The Democrat publishes a long account of a conspiracy for the erection of the North western Confederacy, referred to a few days since.

It says the organization engaged in this conspiracy is known as the order of American Knights, and the object is to embarrass the Government in the conduct of the war, and to overthrow the Government. If necessary, for overthrow the Government, if necessary, for the supremacy of the order.

Its professions and purposes vary in the fitferent States. It proclaims a war policy in New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and other Eastern States, whilst in the West it is other Eastern States, for peace.

The order is a Sonthern organization, being erected on the ruins of the order of the Knights of the Golden Circle, and Gen. Sterling Price is the supreme commander. Vallandigham, while in Richmond, was made supreme commander of the North section. The conep racy entered into between him and the rebel authorities was to divide the East and West, and then and the Sonthern rebellion.

aid the Southern rebellion.

Vallandigham's time in Canada was principally spent in furthering this scheme. He had a conference with some of the leading spirits in the North soon after his arrival in Canada, and arranged for the establishment of the or-and arranged for the establishment of the oruer throughout the loyal States.

The names of all who visited him at the Chitton House are known to the Government.

Among them are William H, figed, of Philadelphia; Pendleton and Pugh, of Chic, Kabben, of St. Louis; Stevens and Merrick, of Chicago. The results of this conference are a so known to the Government.

About the lat of January Vallandigham is sued an address to the loyal States, in which sued an address to the loyal States, in which he called upon the members to renew their vows. He says the time is fast approaching which will test their sincerity: that the prose-cution of the war is in violation of the rights of States, and that President Lincoln is a A meeting of the grand commanders of the different States was held in New York on the 22d of February, for the purpose of organiza-

An outbreak on the 10th of March, the day fixed for the draft, was spoken of, but no den-nite plan was resolved on.

The names of these conspirators are also known to the Government.

Some commanders had a conversation with the supreme commander at Windson Canada, early in April. Among those in attendance were McMaster, of New York; Charles L. Hunt, of St. Louis, and Lafayette Devlin, of

The programme adopted by these meetings was that Vallandigham should represent his district of Obio in the Democratic National Convention, and there proclaim the doctrine of the order, viz:

Pronounce the existing Administration of the Government as power usurped, which the people had a right to expel by force, if necessary; in fact, mangurate a rebellion in the North, in which he was to be supported by the order. Each grand commander was to have an armed body-guard at the convention for the defence of Vallandigham. This, it was thought, would precipitate the people of the free States into an armed conflict, and it would be a signal for the members of the order to unite against the lawful authorities, kill or capture the civil and military authorities, seize the arsenals, arms, public property of all kinds, and proclaim the Government overthrown. There is the most convincing evidence of the truthfulness of this The reason of Vallandigham's sudden return to Objo was for the fear of his being defeated as a delegate to the Chicago Convention, and it was only by his presence that his election was The numerical strength of this order is said to be considerably over half a million. One hundred and fifty thousand of the whole

Hannibal yesterday, and were at Salt Aiver bridge last night. The damage to the railroad property and the value of the plunder secured are not ascertained; but the loss is lar ge, as the merchants had large stocks on hand to day, revealed a considerable amount of the railroad and the loyal people, and it will be collected. The same rule will be enforced on all the lines in that district. General Fiske has received authority to redoing thorough work. Every brush patch in Platte, Clay, Ray, and other rebellious counties is being vigorously searched for bushwhackers.

Thornton is said to have disbanded his men, telling them it was impossible to cross the Missouri river, and as the Union forces are closing around them from all sides, they would be destroyed if they kept together. No large bands of marauders being heard of for several days gives color to this statement.

General Hallett, general manager of the eastern division of the Union Pacific railroad, was shot and killed in the street in Wyandotte Kansas, to day, by a man named Talcott. No reason is assigned for the act. Talcott es-
